Multiple growth drivers to keep rally going for Polycab

At current price, company is trading at 47 times its FY27 earnings

RAM PRASAD SAHU
Mumbai, 19 June

The stock of the largest cable and wire company Polycab has been hitting its all-time highs and gained 11.5 per cent over last month and 39 per cent over a three-month period.

In comparison, the benchmark Nifty 50 is up about 2-4 per cent during this period.

Despite the sharp gains for the stock, brokerages have upgraded it on structural growth drivers, market share gains and margin expansion. At the current price, the company is trading at a steep 47 times its FY27 earnings.

The company has increased its market share by 12 percentage points over the last five years to about 31 per cent in the domestic organised cable and wire sector.

In addition to demand uptick from power, infrastructure and real estate, what has helped it to rake in the gains is manufacturing scale which is twice that of peers, a robust portfolio of 10,000 stock keeping units (SKUs) and a vast network of dealers and distributors.

For Jefferies Research, Polycab remains a key conviction pick led by consistent market share gains. The brokerage has hiked its target price to ₹10,920 from ₹9,770 and considers the company a power proxy play given expansion in the infrastructure sector.

Among the triggers is a strong order book in the revamped distribution sector scheme (power) and Bharat-Net (rural broadband) infrastructure projects.

The order book from these two projects is ₹11,300

Beating the benchmark

BROKERAGES HAVE UPGRADED POLYCARB ON STRUCTURAL GROWTH DRIVERS, MARKET SHARE GAINS AND MARGIN EXPANSION

crore and is expected to add about ₹1,800-2,000 crore to revenue in FY27.

Given multiple growth drivers, Motilal Oswal Research expects revenues and operating profit to rise 22-23 per cent over FY26-28. Analysts led by Sanjeev Kumar Singh of the brokerage said, "Despite near-term challenges, demand remains strong, while ongoing capacity expansions position the company to capitalise on the upcycle and sustain growth."

The brokerage has a "buy" rating with a target price of ₹11,950.

Traction in the fast moving electrical goods (FMEG) sector is another trigger as the company is expected to sustain breakeven at the operating profit level. The segment has now been profitable for five consecutive quarters with segment margins coming in at 2.7 per cent compared to a loss of ₹38.9 crore in FY25.

Within the FMEG space,

solar was the growth driver as it registered a 3.5 times growth year-on-year (Y-o-Y) and is now the largest and fastest growing FMEG category.

Recovery is also led by premium fans, B2C switch-gears and switches. Equirus Securities says that the 8-10 per cent margin goal still looks aspirational, but FMEG has structurally shifted from being a drag to a compounding lever.

The key monitorables in FY27, according to Manoj Gori of Equirus Securities, are export recovery, margin gains in FMEG towards guided range, and margin resilience in its core wire and cable business.

With ₹6,000-8,000 crore capex queued under the company's multi-year strategic roadmap, Project Spring and scaling up of extra high voltage cables, the runway stays long, they added.

The brokerage does not see any execution challenges for the company.

Going ahead, Kotak Research expects the growth outperformance to continue with the scale-up of exports, operationalisation of the new EHV cable unit and higher focus on fast-growing segments such as data centres, electric vehicles and defence.

Polycab, according to the brokerage, deserves a higher target multiple than its peers, considering its superior growth profile, return ratios and free cash flow generation.

While it has raised its target multiple to 33 times June 2028 estimates to align with its long-term industry forecasts and broader pecking order within the space, it has maintained a sell rating given expensive valuations.

TALKING FINANCES

An important conversation Indian couples fail to have

SUSEEL KUMAR & R SUDHAKAR

In most Indian households, one partner manages the family's financial life and the other trusts that it is being managed efficiently. This arrangement is not unusual and not born of ill will. The husband quietly maintains the insurance portfolio, rolls over the fixed deposits, monitors the provident fund, and tracks the share certificates by his own understanding and the wife who allows this division of responsibility willingly, magnanimously and completely expresses the trust that marriage in this country is built on.

When he dies, that maganani-mous trust becomes the most expensive thing she ever gave him. The evidence for this statement is no longer anecdotal. It is regulatory data, published by three of India's most consequential financial institutions (FI), and its scale demands that we treat the underlying cause as a matter of serious public concern.

As of February 2026, public sector banks have transferred ₹60,518 crore unclaimed deposits to the Reserve Bank of India's Depositor Education Awareness Fund. These are savings accounts not operated for a decade, fixed deposits not claimed after maturity, money that sat waiting for a claimant who either did not know it existed or could not produce the documents to establish the right to it.

Insurance companies carry a further ₹8,973 crore in unclaimed amounts: Matured policies, survival benefits, death claims that were never filed. Mutual funds account for another ₹3,749 crore. The Investor Education and Protection Fund, which holds unclaimed dividends and shares transferred by companies, carries an estimated ₹5,600 crore. In addition to this, as of February 2026, there were 3.18 million inoperative accounts, with ₹10,181 crore lying unclaimed in Employees' Provident Fund Organisation (EPFO). Of these, nearly 700,000 accounts are older than 20 years, while 180,000 are between 10-20 years old.

The combined figure across these categories runs well past ₹80,000 crore. This is not money lost to fraud or mismanagement. It is money whose rightful owners do not know where to find it, or in many cases, do not know it exists.

The government's own campaign, conducted across 748 districts between October and December 2025 under the name Aapki Pooji, Aapka Adhikar, could give back only ₹5,777 crore for nearly 2.3 million claimants, in spite of serious efforts involving the FIs and district officials. The scale of what remained unreturned after a nationwide drive coordinated by three regulators is itself the most incriminating evidence of how deep the knowledge gap runs.

Financial literacy in India is discussed almost entirely as a problem of product knowledge: Which insurance to buy, which fund to choose, what returns to expect. This framing is incomplete. The data above suggests that a significant portion of India's financial problem is not about which products are purchased, but about whether the people who are entitled to those products are not aware of it.

A life insurance policy that cannot be traced when needed is not a financial asset. It remains as a mere number in insurance company records. A fixed deposit whose maturity the family does not know about is not savings. It is a ledger entry that will eventually be transferred to a government fund.

The claim process for each of these categories rewards the informed claimant and penalises the ignorant one. To file an insurance claim, the beneficiary needs the policy number, the insurer's name, the servicing branch, and the agent's contact. To recover a dormant bank deposit, a legal heir needs the account number, the branch, and specific documentation. To reclaim shares from the Investor Education and Protection Fund, a family must file Form IEPF-5 with the Ministry of Corporate Affairs, attach multiple identity documents, and coordinate with the company's nodal officer.

These processes are not unreasonable when the claimant is alive and informed. They are nearly impossible when the claimant is encountering the asset for the first time, in grief, without the foundational information that only the deceased possessed.

The conversation that is missing from Indian households is not about financial planning. It is about financial disclosure. One partner showing the other precisely what exists: The policy numbers and insurer names, the bank accounts and their branches, the mutual fund folios and the registrar contacts, the provident fund UAN, the share certificates and the demat account details. Not a general reassurance that things are in order, but the specific, documented, transferable knowledge that turns an asset from a private record into shared property.

This conversation must happen at the earliest, in every household in India. It requires no financial adviser, no legal intermediary, no special occasion. It requires only the recognition that the financial life of a marriage belongs to both people in it, and that the partner who holds the information alone has not completed the transaction. He has merely deferred it, at considerable cost, to a stranger at the gate.

Multiple growth drivers to keep rally going for Polycab

At current price, company is trading at 47 times its FY27 earnings

RAM PRASAD SAHU
Mumbai, 19 June

The stock of the largest cable and wire company Polycab has been hitting its all-time highs and gained 11.5 per cent over last month and 39 per cent over a three-month period.

In comparison, the benchmark Nifty 50 is up about 2-4 per cent during this period.

Despite the sharp gains for the stock, brokerages have upgraded it on structural growth drivers, market share gains and margin expansion. At the current price, the company is trading at a steep 47 times its FY27 earnings.

The company has increased its market share by 12 percentage points over the last five years to about 31 per cent in the domestic organised cable and wire sector.

In addition to demand up-tick from power, infrastructure and real estate, what has helped it to rake in the gains is manufacturing scale which is twice that of peers, a robust portfolio of 10,000 stock keeping units (SKUs) and a vast network of dealers and distributors.

For Jefferies Research, Polycab remains a key conviction pick led by consistent market share gains. The brokerage has hiked its target price to ₹10,920 from ₹9,770 and considers the company a power proxy play given expansion in the infrastructure sector.

Among the triggers is a strong order book in the revamped distribution sector scheme (power) and Bharat-Net (rural broadband) infrastructure projects.

The order book from these two projects is ₹11,300

Beating the benchmark

BROKERAGES HAVE UPGRADED POLYCARB ON STRUCTURAL GROWTH DRIVERS, MARKET SHARE GAINS AND MARGIN EXPANSION

crore and is expected to add about ₹1,800-2,000 crore to revenue in FY27.

Given multiple growth drivers, Motilal Oswal Research expects revenues and operating profit to rise 22-23 per cent over FY26-28. Analysts led by Sanjeev Kumar Singh of the brokerage said, "Despite near-term challenges, demand remains strong, while ongoing capacity expansions position the company to capitalise on the upcycle and sustain growth."

The brokerage has a "buy" rating with a target price of ₹11,950.

Traction in the fast moving electrical goods (FMEG) sector is another trigger as the company is expected to sustain breakeven at the operating profit level. The segment has now been profitable for five consecutive quarters with segment margins coming in at 2.7 per cent compared to a loss of ₹38.9 crore in FY25.

Within the FMEG space,

solar was the growth driver as it registered a 3.5 times growth year-on-year (Y-o-Y) and is now the largest and fastest growing FMEG category.

Recovery is also led by premium fans, B2C switch-gears and switches. Equirus Securities says that the 8-10 per cent margin goal still looks aspirational, but FMEG has structurally shifted from being a drag to a compounding lever.

The key monitorables in FY27, according to Manoj Gori of Equirus Securities, are export recovery, margin gains in FMEG towards guided range, and margin resilience in its core wire and cable business.

With ₹6,000-8,000 crore capex queued under the company's multi-year strategic roadmap, Project Spring and scaling up of extra high voltage cables, the runway stays long, they added.

The brokerage does not see any execution challenges for the company.

Going ahead, Kotak Research expects the growth outperformance to continue with the scale-up of exports, operationalisation of the new EHV cable unit and higher focus on fast-growing segments such as data centres, electric vehicles and defence.

Polycab, according to the brokerage, deserves a higher target multiple than its peers, considering its superior growth profile, return ratios and free cash flow generation.

While it has raised its target multiple to 33 times June 2028 estimates to align with its long-term industry forecasts and broader pecking order within the space, it has maintained a sell rating given expensive valuations.

TALKING FINANCES

An important conversation Indian couples fail to have

SUSEEL KUMAR & R SUDHAKAR

In most Indian households, one partner manages the family's financial life and the other trusts that it is being managed efficiently. This arrangement is not unusual and not born of ill will. The husband quietly maintains the insurance portfolio, rolls over the fixed deposits, monitors the provident fund, and tracks the share certificates by his own understanding and the wife who allows this division of responsibility willingly, magnanimously and completely expresses the trust that marriage in this country is built on.

When he dies, that maganani-mous trust becomes the most expensive thing she ever gave him. The evidence for this statement is no longer anecdotal. It is regulatory data, published by three of India's most consequential financial institutions (FI), and its scale demands that we treat the underlying cause as a matter of serious public concern.

As of February 2026, public sector banks have transferred ₹60,518 crore unclaimed deposits to the Reserve Bank of India's Depositor Education Awareness Fund. These are savings accounts not operated for a decade, fixed deposits not claimed after maturity, money that sat waiting for a claimant who either did not know it existed or could not produce the documents to establish the right to it.

Insurance companies carry a further ₹8,973 crore in unclaimed amounts: Matured policies, survival benefits, death claims that were never filed. Mutual funds account for another ₹3,749 crore. The Investor Education and Protection Fund, which holds unclaimed dividends and shares transferred by companies, carries an estimated ₹5,600 crore. In addition to this, as of February 2026, there were 3.18 million inoperative accounts, with ₹10,181 crore lying unclaimed in Employees' Provident Fund Organisation (EPFO). Of these, nearly 700,000 accounts are older than 20 years, while 180,000 are between 10-20 years old.

The combined figure across these categories runs well past ₹80,000 crore. This is not money lost to fraud or mismanagement. It is money whose rightful owners do not know where to find it, or in many cases, do not know it exists.

The government's own campaign, conducted across 748 districts between October and December 2025 under the name Aapki Pooji, Aapka Adhikar, could give back only ₹5,777 crore for nearly 2.3 million claimants, in spite of serious efforts involving the FIs and district officials. The scale of what remained unreturned after a nationwide drive coordinated by three regulators is itself the most incriminating evidence of how deep the knowledge gap runs.

Financial literacy in India is discussed almost entirely as a problem of product knowledge: Which insurance to buy, which fund to choose, what returns to expect. This framing is incomplete. The data above suggests that a significant portion of India's financial problem is not about which products are purchased, but about whether the people who are entitled to those products are not aware of it.

A life insurance policy that cannot be traced when needed is not a financial asset. It remains as a mere number in insurance company records. A fixed deposit whose maturity the family does not know about is not savings. It is a ledger entry that will eventually be transferred to a government fund.

The claim process for each of these categories rewards the informed claimant and penalises the ignorant one. To file an insurance claim, the beneficiary needs the policy number, the insurer's name, the servicing branch, and the agent's contact. To recover a dormant bank deposit, a legal heir needs the account number, the branch, and specific documentation. To reclaim shares from the Investor Education and Protection Fund, a family must file Form IEPF-5 with the Ministry of Corporate Affairs, attach multiple identity documents, and coordinate with the company's nodal officer.

These processes are not unreasonable when the claimant is alive and informed. They are nearly impossible when the claimant is encountering the asset for the first time, in grief, without the foundational information that only the deceased possessed.

The conversation that is missing from Indian households is not about financial planning. It is about financial disclosure. One partner showing the other precisely what exists: The policy numbers and insurer names, the bank accounts and their branches, the mutual fund folios and the registrar contacts, the provident fund UAN, the share certificates and the demat account details. Not a general reassurance that things are in order, but the specific, documented, transferable knowledge that turns an asset from a private record into shared property.

This conversation must happen at the earliest, in every household in India. It requires no financial adviser, no legal intermediary, no special occasion. It requires only the recognition that the financial life of a marriage belongs to both people in it, and that the partner who holds the information alone has not completed the transaction. He has merely deferred it, at considerable cost, to a stranger at the gate.

The company has increased its market share by 12 percentage points over the last five years to about 31 per cent in the domestic organised cable and wire sector.

In addition to demand up-tick from power, infrastructure and real estate, what has helped it to rake in the gains is manufacturing scale which is twice that of peers, a robust portfolio of 10,000 stock keeping units (SKUs) and a vast network of dealers and distributors.

For Jefferies Research, Polycab remains a key conviction pick led by consistent market share gains. The brokerage has hiked its target price to ₹10,920 from ₹9,770 and considers the company a power proxy play given expansion in the infrastructure sector.

Among the triggers is a strong order book in the revamped distribution sector scheme (power) and Bharat-Net (rural broadband) infrastructure projects.

The order book from these two projects is ₹11,300

Beating the benchmark

crore and is expected to add about ₹1,800-2,000 crore to revenue in FY27.

Given multiple growth drivers, Motilal Oswal Research expects revenues and operating profit to rise 22-23 per cent over FY26-28. Analysts led by Sanjeev Kumar Singh of the brokerage said, "Despite near-term challenges, demand remains strong, while ongoing capacity expansions position the company to capitalise on the upcycle and sustain growth."

The brokerage has a "buy" rating with a target price of ₹11,950.

Traction in the fast moving electrical goods (FMEG) sector is another trigger as the company is expected to sustain breakeven at the operating profit level. The segment has now been profitable for five consecutive quarters with segment margins coming in at 2.7 per cent compared to a loss of ₹38.9 crore in FY25.

Within the FMEG space,

solar was the growth driver as it registered a 3.5 times growth year-on-year (Y-o-Y) and is now the largest and fastest growing FMEG category.

Recovery is also led by premium fans, B2C switch-gears and switches. Equirus Securities says that the 8-10 per cent margin goal still looks aspirational, but FMEG has structurally shifted from being a drag to a compounding lever.

The key monitorables in FY27, according to Manoj Gori of Equirus Securities, are export recovery, margin gains in FMEG towards guided range, and margin resilience in its core wire and cable business.

With ₹6,000-8,000 crore capex queued under the company's multi-year strategic roadmap, Project Spring and scaling up of extra high voltage cables, the runway stays long, they added.

The brokerage does not see any execution challenges for the company.

Going ahead, Kotak Research expects the growth outperformance to continue with the scale-up of exports, operationalisation of the new EHV cable unit and higher focus on fast-growing segments such as data centres, electric vehicles and defence.

Polycab, according to the brokerage, deserves a higher target multiple than its peers, considering its superior growth profile, return ratios and free cash flow generation.

While it has raised its target multiple to 33 times June 2028 estimates to align with its long-term industry forecasts and broader pecking order within the space, it has maintained a sell rating given expensive valuations.

TALKING FINANCES

An important conversation Indian couples fail to have

SUSEEL KUMAR & R SUDHAKAR

In most Indian households, one partner manages the family's financial life and the other trusts that it is being managed efficiently. This arrangement is not unusual and not born of ill will. The husband quietly maintains the insurance portfolio, rolls over the fixed deposits, monitors the provident fund, and tracks the share certificates by his own understanding and the wife who allows this division of responsibility willingly, magnanimously and completely expresses the trust that marriage in this country is built on.

When he dies, that maganani-mous trust becomes the most expensive thing she ever gave him. The evidence for this statement is no longer anecdotal. It is regulatory data, published by three of India's most consequential financial institutions (FI), and its scale demands that we treat the underlying cause as a matter of serious public concern.

As of February 2026, public sector banks have transferred ₹60,518 crore unclaimed deposits to the Reserve Bank of India's Depositor Education Awareness Fund. These are savings accounts not operated for a decade, fixed deposits not claimed after maturity, money that sat waiting for a claimant who either did not know it existed or could not produce the documents to establish the right to it.

Insurance companies carry a further ₹8,973 crore in unclaimed amounts: Matured policies, survival benefits, death claims that were never filed. Mutual funds account for another ₹3,749 crore. The Investor Education and Protection Fund, which holds unclaimed dividends and shares transferred by companies, carries an estimated ₹5,600 crore. In addition to this, as of February 2026, there were 3.18 million inoperative accounts, with ₹10,181 crore lying unclaimed in Employees' Provident Fund Organisation (EPFO). Of these, nearly 700,000 accounts are older than 20 years, while 180,000 are between 10-20 years old.

The combined figure across these categories runs well past ₹80,000 crore. This is not money lost to fraud or mismanagement. It is money whose rightful owners do not know where to find it, or in many cases, do not know it exists.

The government's own campaign, conducted across 748 districts between October and December 2025 under the name Aapki Pooji, Aapka Adhikar, could give back only ₹5,777 crore for nearly 2.3 million claimants, in spite of serious efforts involving the FIs and district officials. The scale of what remained unreturned after a nationwide drive coordinated by three regulators is itself the most incriminating evidence of how deep the knowledge gap runs.

Financial literacy in India is discussed almost entirely as a problem of product knowledge: Which insurance to buy, which fund to choose, what returns to expect. This framing is incomplete. The data above suggests that a significant portion of India's financial problem is not about which products are purchased, but about whether the people who are entitled to those products are not aware of it.

A life insurance policy that cannot be traced when needed is not a financial asset. It remains as a mere number in insurance company records. A fixed deposit whose maturity the family does not know about is not savings. It is a ledger entry that will eventually be transferred to a government fund.

The claim process for each of these categories rewards the informed claimant and penalises the ignorant one. To file an insurance claim, the beneficiary needs the policy number, the insurer's name, the servicing branch, and the agent's contact. To recover a dormant bank deposit, a legal heir needs the account number, the branch, and specific documentation. To reclaim shares from the Investor Education and Protection Fund, a family must file Form IEPF-5 with the Ministry of Corporate Affairs, attach multiple identity documents, and coordinate with the company's nodal officer.

These processes are not unreasonable when the claimant is alive and informed. They are nearly impossible when the claimant is encountering the asset for the first time, in grief, without the foundational information that only the deceased possessed.

The conversation that is missing from Indian households is not about financial planning. It is about financial disclosure. One partner showing the other precisely what exists: The policy numbers and insurer names, the bank accounts and their branches, the mutual fund folios and the registrar contacts, the provident fund UAN, the share certificates and the demat account details. Not a general reassurance that things are in order, but the specific, documented, transferable knowledge that turns an asset from a private record into shared property.

This conversation must happen at the earliest, in every household in India. It requires no financial adviser, no legal intermediary, no special occasion. It requires only the recognition that the financial life of a marriage belongs to both people in it, and that the partner who holds the information alone has not completed the transaction. He has merely deferred it, at considerable cost, to a stranger at the gate.

Multiple growth drivers to keep rally going for Polycab

At current price, company is trading at 47 times its FY27 earnings

RAM PRASAD SAHU
Mumbai, 19 June

The stock of the largest cable and wire company Polycab has been hitting its all-time highs and gained 11.5 per cent over last month and 39 per cent over a three-month period.

In comparison, the benchmark Nifty 50 is up about 2-4 per cent during this period.

Despite the sharp gains for the stock, brokerages have upgraded it on structural growth drivers, market share gains and margin expansion. At the current price, the company is trading at a steep 47 times its FY27 earnings.

Multiple growth drivers to keep rally going for Polycab

At current price, company is trading at 47 times its FY27 earnings

RAM PRASAD SAHU
Mumbai, 19 June

The stock of the largest cable and wire company Polycab has been hitting its all-time highs and gained 11.5 per cent over last month and 39 per cent over a three-month period.

In comparison, the benchmark Nifty 50 is up about 2-4 per cent during this period.

Despite the sharp gains for the stock, brokerages have upgraded it on structural growth drivers, market share gains and margin expansion. At the current price, the company is trading at a steep 47 times its FY27 earnings.

The company has increased its market share by 12 percentage points over the last five years to about 31 per cent in the domestic organised cable and wire sector.

In addition to demand uptick from power, infrastructure and real estate, what has helped it to rake in the gains is manufacturing scale which is twice that of peers, a robust portfolio of 10,000 stock keeping units (SKUs) and a vast network of dealers and distributors.

For Jefferies Research, Polycab remains a key conviction pick led by consistent market share gains. The brokerage has hiked its target price to ₹10,920 from ₹9,770 and considers the company a power proxy play given expansion in the infrastructure sector.

Among the triggers is a strong order book in the revamped distribution sector scheme (power) and Bharat-Net (rural broadband) infrastructure projects.

The order book from these two projects is ₹11,300

Beating the benchmark

BROKERAGES HAVE UPGRADED POLYCARB ON STRUCTURAL GROWTH DRIVERS, MARKET SHARE GAINS AND MARGIN EXPANSION

crore and is expected to add about ₹1,800-2,000 crore to revenue in FY27.

Given multiple growth drivers, Motilal Oswal Research expects revenues and operating profit to rise 22-23 per cent over FY26-28. Analysts led by Sanjeev Kumar Singh of the brokerage said, "Despite near-term challenges, demand remains strong, while ongoing capacity expansions position the company to capitalise on the upcycle and sustain growth."

The brokerage has a "buy" rating with a target price of ₹11,950.

Traction in the fast moving electrical goods (FMEG) sector is another trigger as the company is expected to sustain breakeven at the operating profit level. The segment has now been profitable for five consecutive quarters with segment margins coming in at 2.7 per cent compared to a loss of ₹38.9 crore in FY25.

Within the FMEG space,

solar was the growth driver as it registered a 3.5 times growth year-on-year (Y-o-Y) and is now the largest and fastest growing FMEG category.

Recovery is also led by premium fans, B2C switch-gears and switches. Equirus Securities says that the 8-10 per cent margin goal still looks aspirational, but FMEG has structurally shifted from being a drag to a compounding lever.

The key monitorables in FY27, according to Manoj Gori of Equirus Securities, are export recovery, margin gains in FMEG towards guided range, and margin resilience in its core wire and cable business.

With ₹6,000-8,000 crore capex queued under the company's multi-year strategic roadmap, Project Spring and scaling up of extra high voltage cables, the runway stays long, they added.

The brokerage does not see any execution challenges for the company.

Going ahead, Kotak Research expects the growth outperformance to continue with the scale-up of exports, operationalisation of the new EHV cable unit and higher focus on fast-growing segments such as data centres, electric vehicles and defence.

Polycab, according to the brokerage, deserves a higher target multiple than its peers, considering its superior growth profile, return ratios and free cash flow generation.

While it has raised its target multiple to 33 times June 2028 estimates to align with its long-term industry forecasts and broader pecking order within the space, it has maintained a sell rating given expensive valuations.

TALKING FINANCES

An important conversation Indian couples fail to have

SUSEEL KUMAR & R SUDHAKAR

In most Indian households, one partner manages the family's financial life and the other trusts that it is being managed efficiently. This arrangement is not unusual and not born of ill will. The husband quietly maintains the insurance portfolio, rolls over the fixed deposits, monitors the provident fund, and tracks the share certificates by his own understanding and the wife who allows this division of responsibility willingly, magnanimously and completely expresses the trust that marriage in this country is built on.

When he dies, that maganani-mous trust becomes the most expensive thing she ever gave him. The evidence for this statement is no longer anecdotal. It is regulatory data, published by three of India's most consequential financial institutions (FI), and its scale demands that we treat the underlying cause as a matter of serious public concern.

As of February 2026, public sector banks have transferred ₹60,518 crore unclaimed deposits to the Reserve Bank of India's Depositor Education Awareness Fund. These are savings accounts not operated for a decade, fixed deposits not claimed after maturity, money that sat waiting for a claimant who either did not know it existed or could not produce the documents to establish the right to it.

Insurance companies carry a further ₹8,973 crore in unclaimed amounts: Matured policies, survival benefits, death claims that were never filed. Mutual funds account for another ₹3,749 crore. The Investor Education and Protection Fund, which holds unclaimed dividends and shares transferred by companies, carries an estimated ₹5,600 crore. In addition to this, as of February 2026, there were 3.18 million inoperative accounts, with ₹10,181 crore lying unclaimed in Employees' Provident Fund Organisation (EPFO). Of these, nearly 700,000 accounts are older than 20 years, while 180,000 are between 10-20 years old.

The combined figure across these categories runs well past ₹80,000 crore. This is not money lost to fraud or mismanagement. It is money whose rightful owners do not know where to find it, or in many cases, do not know it exists.

The government's own campaign, conducted across 748 districts between October and December 2025 under the name Aapki Pooji, Aapka Adhikar, could give back only ₹5,777 crore for nearly 2.3 million claimants, in spite of serious efforts involving the FIs and district officials. The scale of what remained unreturned after a nationwide drive coordinated by three regulators is itself the most incriminating evidence of how deep the knowledge gap runs.

Financial literacy in India is discussed almost entirely as a problem of product knowledge: Which insurance to buy, which fund to choose, what returns to expect. This framing is incomplete. The data above suggests that a significant portion of India's financial problem is not about which products are purchased, but about whether the people who are entitled to those products are not aware of it.

A life insurance policy that cannot be traced when needed is not a financial asset. It remains as a mere number in insurance company records. A fixed deposit whose maturity the family does not know about is not savings. It is a ledger entry that will eventually be transferred to a government fund.

The claim process for each of these categories rewards the informed claimant and penalises the ignorant one. To file an insurance claim, the beneficiary needs the policy number, the insurer's name, the servicing branch, and the agent's contact. To recover a dormant bank deposit, a legal heir needs the account number, the branch, and specific documentation. To reclaim shares from the Investor Education and Protection Fund, a family must file Form IEPF-5 with the Ministry of Corporate Affairs, attach multiple identity documents, and coordinate with the company's nodal officer.

These processes are not unreasonable when the claimant is alive and informed. They are nearly impossible when the claimant is encountering the asset for the first time, in grief, without the foundational information that only the deceased possessed.

The conversation that is missing from Indian households is not about financial planning. It is about financial disclosure. One partner showing the other precisely what exists: The policy numbers and insurer names, the bank accounts and their branches, the mutual fund folios and the registrar contacts, the provident fund UAN, the share certificates and the demat account details. Not a general reassurance that things are in order, but the specific, documented, transferable knowledge that turns an asset from a private record into shared property.

This conversation must happen at the earliest, in every household in India. It requires no financial adviser, no legal intermediary, no special occasion. It requires only the recognition that the financial life of a marriage belongs to both people in it, and that the partner who holds the information alone has not completed the transaction. He has merely deferred it, at considerable cost, to a stranger at the gate.

Suseel Kumar is former managing director of LIC; and R Sudhakar is former executive director of LIC

Multiple growth drivers to keep rally going for Polycab

At current price, company is trading at 47 times its FY27 earnings

RAM PRASAD SAHU
Mumbai, 19 June

The stock of the largest cable and wire company Polycab has been hitting its all-time highs and gained 11.5 per cent over last month and 39 per cent over a three-month period.

In comparison, the benchmark Nifty 50 is up about 2-4 per cent during this period.

Despite the sharp gains for the stock, brokerages have upgraded it on structural growth drivers, market share gains and margin expansion. At the current price, the company is trading at a steep 47 times its FY27 earnings.

The company has increased its market share by 12 percentage points over the last five years to about 31 per cent in the domestic organised cable and wire sector.

In addition to demand uptick from power, infrastructure and real estate, what has helped it to rake in the gains is manufacturing scale which is twice that of peers, a robust portfolio of 10,000 stock keeping units (SKUs) and a vast network of dealers and distributors.

For Jefferies Research, Polycab remains a key conviction pick led by consistent market share gains. The brokerage has hiked its target price to ₹10,920 from ₹9,770 and considers the company a power proxy play given expansion in the infrastructure sector.

Among the triggers is a strong order book in the revamped distribution sector scheme (power) and Bharat-Net (rural broadband) infrastructure projects.

The order book from these two projects is ₹11,300

Beating the benchmark

BROKERAGES HAVE UPGRADED POLYCARB ON STRUCTURAL GROWTH DRIVERS, MARKET SHARE GAINS AND MARGIN EXPANSION

crore and is expected to add about ₹1,800-2,000 crore to revenue in FY27.

Given multiple growth drivers, Motilal Oswal Research expects revenues and operating profit to rise 22-23 per cent over FY26-28. Analysts led by Sanjeev Kumar Singh of the brokerage said, "Despite near-term challenges, demand remains strong, while ongoing capacity expansions position the company to capitalise on the upcycle and sustain growth."

The brokerage has a "buy" rating with a target price of ₹11,950.

Traction in the fast moving electrical goods (FMEG) sector is another trigger as the company is expected to sustain breakeven at the operating profit level. The segment has now been profitable for five consecutive quarters with segment margins coming in at 2.7 per cent compared to a loss of ₹38.9 crore in FY25.

Within the FMEG space,

solar was the growth driver as it registered a 3.5 times growth year-on-year (Y-o-Y) and is now the largest and fastest growing FMEG category.

Recovery is also led by premium fans, B2C switch-gears and switches. Equirus Securities says that the 8-10 per cent margin goal still looks aspirational, but FMEG has structurally shifted from being a drag to a compounding lever.

The key monitorables in FY27, according to Manoj Gori of Equirus Securities, are export recovery, margin gains in FMEG towards guided range, and margin resilience in its core wire and cable business.

With ₹6,000-8,000 crore capex queued under the company's multi-year strategic roadmap, Project Spring and scaling up of extra high voltage cables, the runway stays long, they added.

The brokerage does not see any execution challenges for the company.

Going ahead, Kotak Research expects the growth outperformance to continue with the scale-up of exports, operationalisation of the new EHV cable unit and higher focus on fast-growing segments such as data centres, electric vehicles and defence.

Polycab, according to the brokerage, deserves a higher target multiple than its peers, considering its superior growth profile, return ratios and free cash flow generation.

While it has raised its target multiple to 33 times June 2026 estimates to align with its long-term industry forecasts and broader pecking order within the space, it has maintained a sell rating given expensive valuations.

YOUR MONEY

TALKING FINANCES

An important conversation Indian couples fail to have

SUSEEL KUMAR & R SUDHAKAR

In most Indian households, one partner manages the family's financial life and the other trusts that it is being managed efficiently. This arrangement is not unusual and not born of ill will. The husband quietly maintains the insurance portfolio, rolls over the fixed deposits, monitors the provident fund, and tracks the share certificates by his own understanding and the wife who allows this division of responsibility willingly, magnanimously and completely expresses the trust that marriage in this country is built on.

When he dies, that maganani-mous trust becomes the most expensive thing she ever gave him. The evidence for this statement is no longer anecdotal. It is regulatory data, published by three of India's most consequential financial institutions (FI), and its scale demands that we treat the underlying cause as a matter of serious public concern.

As of February 2026, public sector banks have transferred ₹60,518 crore unclaimed deposits to the Reserve Bank of India's Depositor Education Awareness Fund. These are savings accounts not operated for a decade, fixed deposits not claimed after maturity, money that sat waiting for a claimant who either did not know it existed or could not produce the documents to establish the right to it.

Insurance companies carry a further ₹8,973 crore in unclaimed amounts: Matured policies, survival benefits, death claims that were never filed. Mutual funds account for another ₹3,749 crore. The Investor Education and Protection Fund, which holds unclaimed dividends and shares transferred by companies, carries an estimated ₹5,600 crore. In addition to this, as of February 2026, there were 3.18 million inoperative accounts, with ₹10,181 crore lying unclaimed in Employees' Provident Fund Organisation (EPFO). Of these, nearly 700,000 accounts are older than 20 years, while 180,000 are between 10-20 years old.

The combined figure across these categories runs well past ₹80,000 crore. This is not money lost to fraud or mismanagement. It is money whose rightful owners do not know where to find it, or in many cases, do not know it exists.

The government's own campaign, conducted across 748 districts between October and December 2025 under the name Aapki Pooji, Aapka Adhikar, could give back only ₹5,777 crore for nearly 2.3 million claimants, in spite of serious efforts involving the FIs and district officials. The scale of what remained unreturned after a nationwide drive coordinated by three regulators is itself the most incriminating evidence of how deep the knowledge gap runs.

Financial literacy in India is discussed almost entirely as a problem of product knowledge: Which insurance to buy, which fund to choose, what returns to expect. This framing is incomplete. The data above suggests that a significant portion of India's financial problem is not about which products are purchased, but about whether the people who are entitled to those products are not aware of it.

A life insurance policy that cannot be traced when needed is not a financial asset. It remains as a mere number in insurance company records. A fixed deposit whose maturity the family does not know about is not savings. It is a ledger entry that will eventually be transferred to a government fund.

The claim process for each of these categories rewards the informed claimant and penalises the ignorant one. To file an insurance claim, the beneficiary needs the policy number, the insurer's name, the servicing branch, and the agent's contact. To recover a dormant bank deposit, a legal heir needs the account number, the branch, and specific documentation. To reclaim shares from the Investor Education and Protection Fund, a family must file Form IEPF-5 with the Ministry of Corporate Affairs, attach multiple identity documents, and coordinate with the company's nodal officer.

These processes are not unreasonable when the claimant is alive and informed. They are nearly impossible when the claimant is encountering the asset for the first time, in grief, without the foundational information that only the deceased possessed.

The conversation that is missing from Indian households is not about financial planning. It is about financial disclosure. One partner showing the other precisely what exists: The policy numbers and insurer names, the bank accounts and their branches, the mutual fund folios and the registrar contacts, the provident fund UAN, the share certificates and the demat account details. Not a general reassurance that things are in order, but the specific, documented, transferable knowledge that turns an asset from a private record into shared property.

This conversation must happen at the earliest, in every household in India. It requires no financial adviser, no legal intermediary, no special occasion. It requires only the recognition that the financial life of a marriage belongs to both people in it, and that the partner who holds the information alone has not completed the transaction. He has merely deferred it, at considerable cost, to a stranger at the gate.

Traction in the fast moving electrical goods (FMEG) sector is another trigger as the company is expected to sustain breakeven at the operating profit level. The segment has now been profitable for five consecutive quarters with segment margins coming in at 2.7 per cent compared to a loss of ₹38.9 crore in FY25.

Within the FMEG space,

solar was the growth driver as it registered a 3.5 times growth year-on-year (Y-o-Y) and is now the largest and fastest growing FMEG category.

Recovery is also led by premium fans, B2C switch-gears and switches. Equirus Securities says that the 8-10 per cent margin goal still looks aspirational, but FMEG has structurally shifted from being a drag to a compounding lever.

The key monitorables in FY27, according to Manoj Gori of Equirus Securities, are export recovery, margin gains in FMEG towards guided range, and margin resilience in its core wire and cable business.

With ₹6,000-8,000 crore capex queued under the company's multi-year strategic roadmap, Project Spring and scaling up of extra high voltage cables, the runway stays long, they added.

The brokerage does not see any execution challenges for the company.

Going ahead, Kotak Research expects the growth outperformance to continue with the scale-up of exports, operationalisation of the new EHV cable unit and higher focus on fast-growing segments such as data centres, electric vehicles and defence.

Polycab, according to the brokerage, deserves a higher target multiple than its peers, considering its superior growth profile, return ratios and free cash flow generation.

While it has raised its target multiple to 33 times June 2028 estimates to align with its long-term industry forecasts and broader pecking order within the space, it has maintained a sell rating given expensive valuations.

TALKING FINANCES

An important conversation Indian couples fail to have

SUSEEL KUMAR & R SUDHAKAR

In most Indian households, one partner manages the family's financial life and the other trusts that it is being managed efficiently. This arrangement is not unusual and not born of ill will. The husband quietly maintains the insurance portfolio, rolls over the fixed deposits, monitors the provident fund, and tracks the share certificates by his own understanding and the wife who allows this division of responsibility willingly, magnanimously and completely expresses the trust that marriage in this country is built on.

When he dies, that maganani-mous trust becomes the most expensive thing she ever gave him. The evidence for this statement is no longer anecdotal. It is regulatory data, published by three of India's most consequential financial institutions (FI), and its scale demands that we treat the underlying cause as a matter of serious public concern.

As of February 2026, public sector banks have transferred ₹60,518 crore unclaimed deposits to the Reserve Bank of India's Depositor Education Awareness Fund. These are savings accounts not operated for a decade, fixed deposits not claimed after maturity, money that sat waiting for a claimant who either did not know it existed or could not produce the documents to establish the right to it.

Insurance companies carry a further ₹8,973 crore in unclaimed amounts: Matured policies, survival benefits, death claims that were never filed. Mutual funds account for another ₹3,749 crore. The Investor Education and Protection Fund, which holds unclaimed dividends and shares transferred by companies, carries an estimated ₹5,600 crore. In addition to this, as of February 2026, there were 3.18 million inoperative accounts, with ₹10,181 crore lying unclaimed in Employees' Provident Fund Organisation (EPFO). Of these, nearly 700,000 accounts are older than 20 years, while 180,000 are between 10-20 years old.

The combined figure across these categories runs well past ₹80,000 crore. This is not money lost to fraud or mismanagement. It is money whose rightful owners do not know where to find it, or in many cases, do not know it exists.

The government's own campaign, conducted across 748 districts between October and December 2025 under the name Aapki Pooji, Aapka Adhikar, could give back only ₹5,777 crore for nearly 2.3 million claimants, in spite of serious efforts involving the FIs and district officials. The scale of what remained unreturned after a nationwide drive coordinated by three regulators is itself the most incriminating evidence of how deep the knowledge gap runs.

Financial literacy in India is discussed almost entirely as a problem of product knowledge: Which insurance to buy, which fund to choose, what returns to expect. This framing is incomplete. The data above suggests that a significant portion of India's financial problem is not about which products are purchased, but about whether the people who are entitled to those products are not aware of it.

A life insurance policy that cannot be traced when needed is not a financial asset. It remains as a mere number in insurance company records. A fixed deposit whose maturity the family does not know about is not savings. It is a ledger entry that will eventually be transferred to a government fund.

The claim process for each of these categories rewards the informed claimant and penalises the ignorant one. To file an insurance claim, the beneficiary needs the policy number, the insurer's name, the servicing branch, and the agent's contact. To recover a dormant bank deposit, a legal heir needs the account number, the branch, and specific documentation. To reclaim shares from the Investor Education and Protection Fund, a family must file Form IEPF-5 with the Ministry of Corporate Affairs, attach multiple identity documents, and coordinate with the company's nodal officer.

These processes are not unreasonable when the claimant is alive and informed. They are nearly impossible when the claimant is encountering the asset for the first time, in grief, without the foundational information that only the deceased possessed.

The conversation that is missing from Indian households is not about financial planning. It is about financial disclosure. One partner showing the other precisely what exists: The policy numbers and insurer names, the bank accounts and their branches, the mutual fund folios and the registrar contacts, the provident fund UAN, the share certificates and the demat account details. Not a general reassurance that things are in order, but the specific, documented, transferable knowledge that turns an asset from a private record into shared property.

This conversation must happen at the earliest, in every household in India. It requires no financial adviser, no legal intermediary, no special occasion. It requires only the recognition that the financial life of a marriage belongs to both people in it, and that the partner who holds the information alone has not completed the transaction. He has merely deferred it, at considerable cost, to a stranger at the gate.

Multiple growth drivers to keep rally going for Polycab

At current price, company is trading at 47 times its FY27 earnings

RAM PRASAD SAHU
Mumbai, 19 June

The stock of the largest cable and wire company Polycab has been hitting its all-time highs and gained 11.5 per cent over last month and 39 per cent over a three-month period.

In comparison, the benchmark Nifty 50 is up about 2-4 per cent during this period.

Despite the sharp gains for the stock, brokerages have upgraded it on structural growth drivers, market share gains and margin expansion. At the current price, the company is trading at a steep 47 times its FY27 earnings.

The company has increased its market share by 12 percentage points over the last five years to about 31 per cent in the domestic organised cable and wire sector.

In addition to demand up-tick from power, infrastructure and real estate, what has helped it to rake in the gains is manufacturing scale which is twice that of peers, a robust portfolio of 10,000 stock keeping units (SKUs) and a vast network of dealers and distributors.

For Jefferies Research, Polycab remains a key conviction pick led by consistent market share gains. The brokerage has hiked its target price to ₹10,920 from ₹9,770 and considers the company a power proxy play given expansion in the infrastructure sector.

Among the triggers is a strong order book in the revamped distribution sector scheme (power) and Bharat-Net (rural broadband) infrastructure projects.

The order book from these two projects is ₹11,300

Beating the benchmark

BROKERAGES HAVE UPGRADED POLYCARB ON STRUCTURAL GROWTH DRIVERS, MARKET SHARE GAINS AND MARGIN EXPANSION

crore and is expected to add about ₹1,800-2,000 crore to revenue in FY27.

Given multiple growth drivers, Motilal Oswal Research expects revenues and operating profit to rise 22-23 per cent over FY26-28. Analysts led by Sanjeev Kumar Singh of the brokerage said, "Despite near-term challenges, demand remains strong, while ongoing capacity expansions position the company to capitalise on the upcycle and sustain growth."

The brokerage has a "buy" rating with a target price of ₹11,950.

Traction in the fast moving electrical goods (FMEG) sector is another trigger as the company is expected to sustain breakeven at the operating profit level. Multiple growth drivers to keep rally going for Polycab

At current price, company is trading at 47 times its FY27 earnings

RAM PRASAD SAHU
Mumbai, 19 June

The stock of the largest cable and wire company Polycab has been hitting its all-time highs and gained 11.5 per cent over last month and 39 per cent over a three-month period.

In comparison, the benchmark Nifty 50 is up about 2-4 per cent during this period.

Despite the sharp gains for the stock, brokerages have upgraded it on structural growth drivers, market share gains and margin expansion. At the current price, the company is trading at a steep 47 times its FY27 earnings.

The company has increased its market share by 12 percentage points over the last five years to about 31 per cent in the domestic organised cable and wire sector.

In addition to demand up-tick from power, infrastructure and real estate, what has helped it to rake in the gains is manufacturing scale which is twice that of peers, a robust portfolio of 10,000 stock keeping units (SKUs) and a vast network of dealers and distributors.

For Jefferies Research, Polycab remains a key conviction pick led by consistent market share gains. The brokerage has hiked its target price to ₹10,920 from ₹9,770 and considers the company a power proxy play given expansion in the infrastructure sector.

Among the triggers is a strong order book in the revamped distribution sector scheme (power) and Bharat-Net (rural broadband) infrastructure projects.

The order book from these two projects is ₹11,300

Beating the benchmark

BROKERAGES HAVE UPGRADED POLYCARB ON STRUCTURAL GROWTH DRIVERS, MARKET SHARE GAINS AND MARGIN EXPANSION

crore and is expected to add about ₹1,800-2,000 crore to revenue in FY27.

Given multiple growth drivers, Motilal Oswal Research expects revenues and operating profit to rise 22-23 per cent over FY26-28. Analysts led by Sanjeev Kumar Singh of the brokerage said, "Despite near-term challenges, demand remains strong, while ongoing capacity expansions position the company to capitalise on the upcycle and sustain growth."

The brokerage has a "buy" rating with a target price of ₹11,950.

Traction in the fast moving electrical goods (FMEG) sector is another trigger as the company is expected to sustain breakeven at the operating profit level. The segment has now been profitable for five consecutive quarters with segment margins coming in at 2.7 per cent compared to a loss of ₹38.9 crore in FY25.

Within the FMEG space,

solar was the growth driver as it registered a 3.5 times growth year-on-year (Y-o-Y) and is now the largest and fastest growing FMEG category.

Recovery is also led by premium fans, B2C switch-gears and switches. Equirus Securities says that the 8-10 per cent margin goal still looks aspirational, but FMEG has structurally shifted from being a drag to a compounding lever.

The key monitorables in FY27, according to Manoj Gori of Equirus Securities, are export recovery, margin gains in FMEG towards guided range, and margin resilience in its core wire and cable business.

With ₹6,000-8,000 crore capex queued under the company's multi-year strategic roadmap, Project Spring and scaling up of extra high voltage cables, the runway stays long, they added.

The brokerage does not see any execution challenges for the company.

Going ahead, Kotak Research expects the growth outperformance to continue with the scale-up of exports, operationalisation of the new EHV cable unit and higher focus on fast-growing segments such as data centres, electric vehicles and defence.

Polycab, according to the brokerage, deserves a higher target multiple than its peers, considering its superior growth profile, return ratios and free cash flow generation.

While it has raised its target multiple to 33 times June 2028 estimates to align with its long-term industry forecasts and broader pecking order within the space, it has maintained a sell rating given expensive valuations.

TALKING FINANCES

An important conversation Indian couples fail to have

SUSEEL KUMAR & R SUDHAKAR

In most Indian households, one partner manages the family's financial life and the other trusts that it is being managed efficiently. This arrangement is not unusual and not born of ill will. The husband quietly maintains the insurance portfolio, rolls over the fixed deposits, monitors the provident fund, and tracks the share certificates by his own understanding and the wife who allows this division of responsibility willingly, magnanimously and completely expresses the trust that marriage in this country is built on.

When he dies, that maganani-mous trust becomes the most expensive thing she ever gave him. The evidence for this statement is no longer anecdotal. It is regulatory data, published by three of India's most consequential financial institutions (FI), and its scale demands that we treat the underlying cause as a matter of serious public concern.

As of February 2026, public sector banks have transferred ₹60,518 crore unclaimed deposits to the Reserve Bank of India's Depositor Education Awareness Fund. These are savings accounts not operated for a decade, fixed deposits not claimed after maturity, money that sat waiting for a claimant who either did not know it existed or could not produce the documents to establish the right to it.

Insurance companies carry a further ₹8,973 crore in unclaimed amounts: Matured policies, survival benefits, death claims that were never filed. Mutual funds account for another ₹3,749 crore. The Investor Education and Protection Fund, which holds unclaimed dividends and shares transferred by companies, carries an estimated ₹5,600 crore. In addition to this, as of February 2026, there were 3.18 million inoperative accounts, with ₹10,181 crore lying unclaimed in Employees' Provident Fund Organisation (EPFO). Of these, nearly 700,000 accounts are older than 20 years, while 180,000 are between 10-20 years old.

The combined figure across these categories runs well past ₹80,000 crore. This is not money lost to fraud or mismanagement. It is money whose rightful owners do not know where to find it, or in many cases, do not know it exists.

The government's own campaign, conducted across 748 districts between October and December 2025 under the name Aapki Pooji, Aapka Adhikar, could give back only ₹5,777 crore for nearly 2.3 million claimants, in spite of serious efforts involving the FIs and district officials. The scale of what remained unreturned after a nationwide drive coordinated by three regulators is itself the most incriminating evidence of how deep the knowledge gap runs.

Financial literacy in India is discussed almost entirely as a problem of product knowledge: Which insurance to buy, which fund to choose, what returns to expect. This framing is incomplete. The data above suggests that a significant portion of India's financial problem is not about which products are purchased, but about whether the people who are entitled to those products are not aware of it.

A life insurance policy that cannot be traced when needed is not a financial asset. It remains as a mere number in insurance company records. A fixed deposit whose maturity the family does not know about is not savings. It is a ledger entry that will eventually be transferred to a government fund.

The claim process for each of these categories rewards the informed claimant and penalises the ignorant one. To file an insurance claim, the beneficiary needs the policy number, the insurer's name, the servicing branch, and the agent's contact. To recover a dormant bank deposit, a legal heir needs the account number, the branch, and specific documentation. To reclaim shares from the Investor Education and Protection Fund, a family must file Form IEPF-5 with the Ministry of Corporate Affairs, attach multiple identity documents, and coordinate with the company's nodal officer.

These processes are not unreasonable when the claimant is alive and informed. They are nearly impossible when the claimant is encountering the asset for the first time, in grief, without the foundational information that only the deceased possessed.

The conversation that is missing from Indian households is not about financial planning. It is about financial disclosure. One partner showing the other precisely what exists: The policy numbers and insurer names, the bank accounts and their branches, the mutual fund folios and the registrar contacts, the provident fund UAN, the share certificates and the demat account details. Not a general reassurance that things are in order, but the specific, documented, transferable knowledge that turns an asset from a private record into shared property.

This conversation must happen at the earliest, in every household in India. It requires no financial adviser, no legal intermediary, no special occasion. It requires only the recognition that the financial life of a marriage belongs to both people in it, and that the partner who holds the information alone has not completed the transaction. He has merely deferred it, at considerable cost, to a stranger at the gate.

Multiple growth drivers to keep rally going for Polycab

At current price, company is trading at 47 times its FY27 earnings

RAM PRASAD SAHU
Mumbai, 19 June

The stock of the largest cable and wire company Polycab has been hitting its all-time highs and gained 11.5 per cent over last month and 39 per cent over a three-month period.

In comparison, the benchmark Nifty 50 is up about 2-4 per cent during this period.

Despite the sharp gains for the stock, brokerages have upgraded it on structural growth drivers, market share gains and margin expansion. At the current price, the company is trading at a steep 47 times its FY27 earnings.

The company has increased its market share by 12 percentage points over the last five years to about 31 per cent in the domestic organised cable and wire sector.

In addition to demand uptick from power, infrastructure and real estate, what has helped it to rake in the gains is manufacturing scale which is twice that of peers, a robust portfolio of 10,000 stock keeping units (SKUs) and a vast network of dealers and distributors.

For Jefferies Research, Polycab remains a key conviction pick led by consistent market share gains. The brokerage has hiked its target price to ₹10,920 from ₹9,770 and considers the company a power proxy play given expansion in the infrastructure sector.

Among the triggers is a strong order book in the revamped distribution sector scheme (power) and Bharat-Net (rural broadband) infrastructure projects.

The order book from these two projects is ₹11,300

Beating the benchmark

BROKERAGES HAVE UPGRADED POLYCARB ON STRUCTURAL GROWTH DRIVERS, MARKET SHARE GAINS AND MARGIN EXPANSION

crore and is expected to add about ₹1,800-2,000 crore to revenue in FY27.

Given multiple growth drivers, Motilal Oswal Research expects revenues and operating profit to rise 22-23 per cent over FY26-28. Analysts led by Sanjeev Kumar Singh of the brokerage said, "Despite near-term challenges, demand remains strong, while ongoing capacity expansions position the company to capitalise on the upcycle and sustain growth."

The brokerage has a "buy" rating with a target price of ₹11,950.

Traction in the fast moving electrical goods (FMEG) sector is another trigger as the company is expected to sustain breakeven at the operating profit level. The segment has now been profitable for five consecutive quarters with segment margins coming in at 2.7 per cent compared to a loss of ₹38.9 crore in FY25.

Within the FMEG space,

solar was the growth driver as it registered a 3.5 times growth year-on-year (Y-o-Y) and is now the largest and fastest growing FMEG category.

Recovery is also led by premium fans, B2C switch-gears and switches. Equirus Securities says that the 8-10 per cent margin goal still looks aspirational, but FMEG has structurally shifted from being a drag to a compounding lever.

The key monitorables in FY27, according to Manoj Gori of Equirus Securities, are export recovery, margin gains in FMEG towards guided range, and margin resilience in its core wire and cable business.

With ₹6,000-8,000 crore capex queued under the company's multi-year strategic roadmap, Project Spring and scaling up of extra high voltage cables, the runway stays long, they added.

The brokerage does not see any execution challenges for the company.

Going ahead, Kotak Research expects the growth outperformance to continue with the scale-up of exports, operationalisation of the new EHV cable unit and higher focus on fast-growing segments such as data centres, electric vehicles and defence.

Polycab, according to the brokerage, deserves a higher target multiple than its peers, considering its superior growth profile, return ratios and free cash flow generation.

While it has raised its target multiple to 33 times June 2028 estimates to align with its long-term industry forecasts and broader pecking order within the space, it has maintained a sell rating given expensive valuations.

TALKING FINANCES

An important conversation Indian couples fail to have

SUSEEL KUMAR & R SUDHAKAR

In most Indian households, one partner manages the family's financial life and the other trusts that it is being managed efficiently. This arrangement is not unusual and not born of ill will. The husband quietly maintains the insurance portfolio, rolls over the fixed deposits, monitors the provident fund, and tracks the share certificates by his own understanding and the wife who allows this division of responsibility willingly, magnanimously and completely expresses the trust that marriage in this country is built on.

When he dies, that maganani-mous trust becomes the most expensive thing she ever gave him. The evidence for this statement is no longer anecdotal. It is regulatory data, published by three of India's most consequential financial institutions (FI), and its scale demands that we treat the underlying cause as a matter of serious public concern.

As of February 2026, public sector banks have transferred ₹60,518 crore unclaimed deposits to the Reserve Bank of India's Depositor Education Awareness Fund. These are savings accounts not operated for a decade, fixed deposits not claimed after maturity, money that sat waiting for a claimant who either did not know it existed or could not produce the documents to establish the right to it.

Insurance companies carry a further ₹8,973 crore in unclaimed amounts: Matured policies, survival benefits, death claims that were never filed. Mutual funds account for another ₹3,749 crore. The Investor Education and Protection Fund, which holds unclaimed dividends and shares transferred by companies, carries an estimated ₹5,600 crore. In addition to this, as of February 2026, there were 3.18 million inoperative accounts, with ₹10,181 crore lying unclaimed in Employees' Provident Fund Organisation (EPFO). Of these, nearly 700,000 accounts are older than 20 years, while 180,000 are between 10-20 years old.

The combined figure across these categories runs well past ₹80,000 crore. This is not money lost to fraud or mismanagement. It is money whose rightful owners do not know where to find it, or in many cases, do not know it exists.

The government's own campaign, conducted across 748 districts between October and December 2025 under the name Aapki Pooji, Aapka Adhikar, could give back only ₹5,777 crore for nearly 2.3 million claimants, in spite of serious efforts involving the FIs and district officials. The scale of what remained unreturned after a nationwide drive coordinated by three regulators is itself the most incriminating evidence of how deep the knowledge gap runs.

Financial literacy in India is discussed almost entirely as a problem of product knowledge: Which insurance to buy, which fund to choose, what returns to expect. This framing is incomplete. The data above suggests that a significant portion of India's financial problem is not about which products are purchased, but about whether the people who are entitled to those products are not aware of it.

A life insurance policy that cannot be traced when needed is not a financial asset. It remains as a mere number in insurance company records. A fixed deposit whose maturity the family does not know about is not savings. It is a ledger entry that will eventually be transferred to a government fund.

The claim process for each of these categories rewards the informed claimant and penalises the ignorant one. To file an insurance claim, the beneficiary needs the policy number, the insurer's name, the servicing branch, and the agent's contact. To recover a dormant bank deposit, a legal heir needs the account number, the branch, and specific documentation. To reclaim shares from the Investor Education and Protection Fund, a family must file Form IEPF-5 with the Ministry of Corporate Affairs, attach multiple identity documents, and coordinate with the company's nodal officer.

These processes are not unreasonable when the claimant is alive and informed. They are nearly impossible when the claimant is encountering the asset for the first time, in grief, without the foundational information that only the deceased possessed.

The conversation that is missing from Indian households is not about financial planning. It is about financial disclosure. One partner showing the other precisely what exists: The policy numbers and insurer names, the bank accounts and their branches, the mutual fund folios and the registrar contacts, the provident fund UAN, the share certificates and the demat account details. Not a general reassurance that things are in order, but the specific, documented, transferable knowledge that turns an asset from a private record into shared property.

This conversation must happen at the earliest, in every household in India. It requires no financial adviser, no legal intermediary, no special occasion. It requires only the recognition that the financial life of a marriage belongs to both people in it, and that the partner who holds the information alone has not completed the transaction. He has merely deferred it, at considerable cost, to a stranger at the gate.

The husband quietly maintains the insurance portfolio, rolls over the fixed deposits, monitors the provident fund, and tracks the share certificates by his own understanding and the wife who allows this division of responsibility willingly, magnanimously and completely expresses the trust that marriage in this country is built on.

When he dies, that maganani-mous trust becomes the most expensive thing she ever gave him. The evidence for this statement is no longer anecdotal. It is regulatory data, published by three of India's most consequential financial institutions (FI), and its scale demands that we treat the underlying cause as a matter of serious public concern.

As of February 2026, public sector banks have transferred ₹60,518 crore unclaimed deposits to the Reserve Bank of India's Depositor Education Awareness Fund. These are savings accounts not operated for a decade, fixed deposits not claimed after maturity, money that sat waiting for a claimant who either did not know it existed or could not produce the documents to establish the right to it.

Insurance companies carry a further ₹8,973 crore in unclaimed amounts: Matured policies, survival benefits, death claims that were never filed. Mutual funds account for another ₹3,749 crore. The Investor Education and Protection Fund, which holds unclaimed dividends and shares transferred by companies, carries an estimated ₹5,600 crore. In addition to this, as of February 2026, there were 3.18 million inoperative accounts, with ₹10,181 crore lying unclaimed in Employees' Provident Fund Organisation (EPFO). Of these, nearly 700,000 accounts are older than 20 years, while 180,000 are between 10-20 years old.

The combined figure across these categories runs well past ₹80,000 crore. This is not money lost to fraud or mismanagement. It is money whose rightful owners do not know where to find it, or in many cases, do not know it exists.

The government's own campaign, conducted across 748 districts between October and December 2025 under the name Aapki Pooji, Aapka Adhikar, could give back only ₹5,777 crore for nearly 2.3 million claimants, in spite of serious efforts involving the FIs and district officials. The scale of what remained unreturned after a nationwide drive coordinated by three regulators is itself the most incriminating evidence of how deep the knowledge gap runs.

Financial literacy in India is discussed almost entirely as a problem of product knowledge: Which insurance to buy, which fund to choose, what returns to expect. This framing is incomplete. The data above suggests that a significant portion of India's financial problem is not about which products are purchased, but about whether the people who are entitled to those products are not aware of it.

A life insurance policy that cannot be traced when needed is not a financial asset. It remains as a mere number in insurance company records. A fixed deposit whose maturity the family does not know about is not savings. It is a ledger entry that will eventually be transferred to a government fund.

The claim process for each of these categories rewards the informed claimant and penalises the ignorant one. To file an insurance claim, the beneficiary needs the policy number, the insurer's name, the servicing branch, and the agent's contact. To recover a dormant bank deposit, a legal heir needs the account number, the branch, and specific documentation. To reclaim shares from the Investor Education and Protection Fund, a family must file Form IEPF-5 with the Ministry of Corporate Affairs, attach multiple identity documents, and coordinate with the company's nodal officer.

These processes are not unreasonable when the claimant is alive and informed. They are nearly impossible when the claimant is encountering the asset for the first time, in grief, without the foundational information that only the deceased possessed.

The conversation that is missing from Indian households is not about financial planning. It is about financial disclosure. One partner showing the other precisely what exists: The policy numbers and insurer names, the bank accounts and their branches, the mutual fund folios and the registrar contacts, the provident fund UAN, the share certificates and the demat account details. Not a general reassurance that things are in order, but the specific, documented, transferable knowledge that turns an asset from a private record into shared property.

This conversation must happen at the earliest, in every household in India. It requires no financial adviser, no legal intermediary, no special occasion. It requires only the recognition that the financial life of a marriage belongs to both people in it, and that the partner who holds the information alone has not completed the transaction. He has merely deferred it, at considerable cost, to a stranger at the gate.

Multiple growth drivers to keep rally going for Polycab

At current price, company is trading at 47 times its FY27 earnings

RAM PRASAD SAHU
Mumbai, 19 June

The stock of the largest cable and wire company Polycab has been hitting its all-time highs and gained 11.5 per cent over last month and 39 per cent over a three-month period.

In comparison, the benchmark Nifty 50 is up about 2-4 per cent during this period.

Despite the sharp gains for the stock, brokerages have upgraded it on structural growth drivers, market share gains and margin expansion. At the current price, the company is trading at a steep 47 times its FY27 earnings.

The company has increased its market share by 12 percentage points over the last five years to about 31 per cent in the domestic organised cable and wire sector.

In addition to demand uptick from power, infrastructure and real estate, what has helped it to rake in the gains is manufacturing scale which is twice that of peers, a robust portfolio of 10,000 stock keeping units (SKUs) and a vast network of dealers and distributors.

For Jefferies Research, Polycab remains a key conviction pick led by consistent market share gains. The brokerage has hiked its target price to ₹10,920 from ₹9,770 and considers the company a power proxy play given expansion in the infrastructure sector.

Among the triggers is a strong order book in the revamped distribution sector scheme (power) and Bharat-Net (rural broadband) infrastructure projects.

The order book from these two projects is ₹11,300

Beating the benchmark

BROKERAGES HAVE UPGRADED POLYCARB ON STRUCTURAL GROWTH DRIVERS, MARKET SHARE GAINS AND MARGIN EXPANSION

crore and is expected to add about ₹1,800-2,000 crore to revenue in FY27.

Given multiple growth drivers, Motilal Oswal Research expects revenues and operating profit to rise 22-23 per cent over FY26-28. Analysts led by Sanjeev Kumar Singh of the brokerage said, "Despite near-term challenges, demand remains strong, while ongoing capacity expansions position the company to capitalise on the upcycle and sustain growth."

The brokerage has a "buy" rating with a target price of ₹11,950.

Traction in the fast moving electrical goods (FMEG) sector is another trigger as the company is expected to sustain breakeven at the operating profit level. The segment has now been profitable for five consecutive quarters with segment margins coming in at 2.7 per cent compared to a loss of ₹38.9 crore in FY25.

Within the FMEG space,

solar was the growth driver as it registered a 3.5 times growth year-on-year (Y-o-Y) and is now the largest and fastest growing FMEG category.

Recovery is also led by premium fans, B2C switch-gears and switches. Equirus Securities says that the 8-10 per cent margin goal still looks aspirational, but FMEG has structurally shifted from being a drag to a compounding lever.

The key monitorables in FY27, according to Manoj Gori of Equirus Securities, are export recovery, margin gains in FMEG towards guided range, and margin resilience in its core wire and cable business.

With ₹6,000-8,000 crore capex queued under the company's multi-year strategic roadmap, Project Spring and scaling up of extra high voltage cables, the runway stays long, they added.

The brokerage does not see any execution challenges for the company.

Going ahead, Kotak Research expects the growth outperformance to continue with the scale-up of exports, operationalisation of the new EHV cable unit and higher focus on fast-growing segments such as data centres, electric vehicles and defence.

Polycab, according to the brokerage, deserves a higher target multiple than its peers, considering its superior growth profile, return ratios and free cash flow generation.

While it has raised its target multiple to 33 times June 2028 estimates to align with its long-term industry forecasts and broader pecking order within the space, it has maintained a sell rating given expensive valuations.

TALKING FINANCES

An important conversation Indian couples fail to have

Multiple growth drivers to keep rally going for Polycab

At current price, company is trading at 47 times its FY27 earnings

RAM PRASAD SAHU
Mumbai, 19 June

The stock of the largest cable and wire company Polycab has been hitting its all-time highs and gained 11.5 per cent over last month and 39 per cent over a three-month period.

In comparison, the benchmark Nifty 50 is up about 2-4 per cent during this period.

Despite the sharp gains for the stock, brokerages have upgraded it on structural growth drivers, market share gains and margin expansion. At the current price, the company is trading at a steep 47 times its FY27 earnings.

The company has increased its market share by 12 percentage points over the last five years to about 31 per cent in the domestic organised cable and wire sector.

In addition to demand up-tick from power, infrastructure and real estate, what has helped it to rake in the gains is manufacturing scale which is twice that of peers, a robust portfolio of 10,000 stock keeping units (SKUs) and a vast network of dealers and distributors.

For Jefferies Research, Polycab remains a key conviction pick led by consistent market share gains. The brokerage has hiked its target price to ₹10,920 from ₹9,770 and considers the company a power proxy play given expansion in the infrastructure sector.

Among the triggers is a strong order book in the revamped distribution sector scheme (power) and Bharat-Net (rural broadband) infrastructure projects.

The order book from these two projects is ₹11,300

Beating the benchmark

BROKERAGES HAVE UPGRADED POLY-CAB ON STRUCTURAL GROWTH DRIVERS, MARKET SHARE GAINS AND MARGIN EXPANSION

crore and is expected to add about ₹1,800-2,000 crore to revenue in FY27.

Given multiple growth drivers, Motilal Oswal Research expects revenues and operating profit to rise 22-23 per cent over FY26-28. Analysts led by Sanjeev Kumar Singh of the brokerage said, "Despite near-term challenges, demand remains strong, while ongoing capacity expansions position the company to capitalise on the upcycle and sustain growth."

The brokerage has a "buy" rating with a target price of ₹11,950.

Traction in the fast moving electrical goods (FMEG) sector is another trigger as the company is expected to sustain breakeven at the operating profit level. The segment has now been profitable for five consecutive quarters with segment margins coming in at 2.7 per cent compared to a loss of ₹38.9 crore in FY25.

Within the FMEG space,

solar was the growth driver as it registered a 3.5 times growth year-on-year (Y-o-Y) and is now the largest and fastest growing FMEG category.

Recovery is also led by premium fans, B2C switch-gears and switches. Equirus Securities says that the 8-10 per cent margin goal still looks aspirational, but FMEG has structurally shifted from being a drag to a compounding lever.

The key monitorables in FY27, according to Manoj Gori of Equirus Securities, are export recovery, margin gains in FMEG towards guided range, and margin resilience in its core wire and cable business.

With ₹6,000-8,000 crore capex queued under the company's multi-year strategic roadmap, Project Spring and scaling up of extra high voltage cables, the runway stays long, they added.

The brokerage does not see any execution challenges for the company.

Going ahead, Kotak Research expects the growth outperformance to continue with the scale-up of exports, operationalisation of the new EHV cable unit and higher focus on fast-growing segments such as data centres, electric vehicles and defence.

Polycab, according to the brokerage, deserves a higher target multiple than its peers, considering its superior growth profile, return ratios and free cash flow generation.

While it has raised its target multiple to 33 times June 2028 estimates to align with its long-term industry forecasts and broader pecking order within the space, it has maintained a sell rating given expensive valuations.

TALKING FINANCES

An important conversation Indian couples fail to have

SUSEEL KUMAR & R SUDHAKAR

In most Indian households, one partner manages the family's financial life and the other trusts that it is being managed efficiently. This arrangement is not unusual and not born of ill will. The husband quietly maintains the insurance portfolio, rolls over the fixed deposits, monitors the provident fund, and tracks the share certificates by his own understanding and the wife who allows this division of responsibility willingly, magnanimously and completely expresses the trust that marriage in this country is built on.

When he dies, that maganani-mous trust becomes the most expensive thing she ever gave him. The evidence for this statement is no longer anecdotal. It is regulatory data, published by three of India's most consequential financial institutions (FI), and its scale demands that we treat the underlying cause as a matter of serious public concern.

As of February 2026, public sector banks have transferred ₹60,518 crore unclaimed deposits to the Reserve Bank of India's Depositor Education Awareness Fund. These are savings accounts not operated for a decade, fixed deposits not claimed after maturity, money that sat waiting for a claimant who either did not know it existed or could not produce the documents to establish the right to it.

Insurance companies carry a further ₹8,973 crore in unclaimed amounts: Matured policies, survival benefits, death claims that were never filed. Mutual funds account for another ₹3,749 crore. The Investor Education and Protection Fund, which holds unclaimed dividends and shares transferred by companies, carries an estimated ₹5,600 crore. In addition to this, as of February 2026, there were 3.18 million inoperative accounts, with ₹10,181 crore lying unclaimed in Employees' Provident Fund Organisation (EPFO). Of these, nearly 700,000 accounts are older than 20 years, while 180,000 are between 10-20 years old.

The combined figure across these categories runs well past ₹80,000 crore. This is not money lost to fraud or mismanagement. It is money whose rightful owners do not know where to find it, or in many cases, do not know it exists.

The government's own campaign, conducted across 748 districts between October and December 2025 under the name Aapki Pooji, Aapka Adhikar, could give back only ₹5,777 crore for nearly 2.3 million claimants, in spite of serious efforts involving the FIs and district officials. The scale of what remained unreturned after a nationwide drive coordinated by three regulators is itself the most incriminating evidence of how deep the knowledge gap runs.

Financial literacy in India is discussed almost entirely as a problem of product knowledge: Which insurance to buy, which fund to choose, what returns to expect. This framing is incomplete. The data above suggests that a significant portion of India's financial problem is not about which products are purchased, but about whether the people who are entitled to those products are not aware of it.

A life insurance policy that cannot be traced when needed is not a financial asset. It remains as a mere number in insurance company records. A fixed deposit whose maturity the family does not know about is not savings. It is a ledger entry that will eventually be transferred to a government fund.

The claim process for each of these categories rewards the informed claimant and penalises the ignorant one. To file an insurance claim, the beneficiary needs the policy number, the insurer's name, the servicing branch, and the agent's contact. To recover a dormant bank deposit, a legal heir needs the account number, the branch, and specific documentation. To reclaim shares from the Investor Education and Protection Fund, a family must file Form IEPF-5 with the Ministry of Corporate Affairs, attach multiple identity documents, and coordinate with the company's nodal officer.

These processes are not unreasonable when the claimant is alive and informed. They are nearly impossible when the claimant is encountering the asset for the first time, in grief, without the foundational information that only the deceased possessed.

The conversation that is missing from Indian households is not about financial planning. It is about financial disclosure. One partner showing the other precisely what exists: The policy numbers and insurer names, the bank accounts and their branches, the mutual fund folios and the registrar contacts, the provident fund UAN, the share certificates and the demat account details. Not a general reassurance that things are in order, but the specific, documented, transferable knowledge that turns an asset from a private record into shared property.

This conversation must happen at the earliest, in every household in India. It requires no financial adviser, no legal intermediary, no special occasion. It requires only the recognition that the financial life of a marriage belongs to both people in it, and that the partner who holds the information alone has not completed the transaction. He has merely deferred it, at considerable cost, to a stranger at the gate.

Multiple growth drivers to keep rally going for Polycab

At current price, company is trading at 47 times its FY27 earnings

RAM PRASAD SAHU
Mumbai, 19 June

The stock of the largest cable and wire company Polycab has been hitting its all-time highs and gained 11.5 per cent over last month and 39 per cent over a three-month period.

In comparison, the benchmark Nifty 50 is up about 2-4 per cent during this period.

Despite the sharp gains for the stock, brokerages have upgraded it on structural growth drivers, market share gains and margin expansion. At the current price, the company is trading at a steep 47 times its FY27 earnings.

The company has increased its market share by 12 percentage points over the last five years to about 31 per cent in the domestic organised cable and wire sector.

In addition to demand up-tick from power, infrastructure and real estate, what has helped it to rake in the gains is manufacturing scale which is twice that of peers, a robust portfolio of 10,000 stock keeping units (SKUs) and a vast network of dealers and distributors.

For Jefferies Research, Polycab remains a key conviction pick led by consistent market share gains. The brokerage has hiked its target price to ₹10,920 from ₹9,770 and considers the company a power proxy play given expansion in the infrastructure sector.

Among the triggers is a strong order book in the revamped distribution sector scheme (power) and Bharat-Net (rural broadband) infrastructure projects.

The order book from these two projects is ₹11,300

Beating the benchmark

BROKERAGES HAVE UPGRADED POLY-CAB ON STRUCTURAL GROWTH DRIVERS, MARKET SHARE GAINS AND MARGIN EXPANSION

crore and is expected to add about ₹1,800-2,000 crore to revenue in FY27.

Given multiple growth drivers, Motilal Oswal Research expects revenues and operating profit to rise 22-23 per cent over FY26-28. Analysts led by Sanjeev Kumar Singh of the brokerage said, "Despite near-term challenges, demand remains strong, while ongoing capacity expansions position the company to capitalise on the upcycle and sustain growth."

The brokerage has a "buy" rating with a target price of ₹11,950.

Traction in the fast moving electrical goods (FMEG) sector is another trigger as the company is expected to sustain breakeven at the operating profit level. The segment has now been profitable for five consecutive quarters with segment margins coming in at 2.7 per cent compared to a loss of ₹38.9 crore in FY25.

Within the FMEG space,

solar was the growth driver as it registered a 3.5 times growth year-on-year (Y-o-Y) and is now the largest and fastest growing FMEG category.

Recovery is also led by premium fans, B2C switch-gears and switches. Equirus Securities says that the 8-10 per cent margin goal still looks aspirational, but FMEG has structurally shifted from being a drag to a compounding lever.

The key monitorables in FY27, according to Manoj Gori of Equirus Securities, are export recovery, margin gains in FMEG towards guided range, and margin resilience in its core wire and cable business.

With ₹6,000-8,000 crore capex queued under the company's multi-year strategic roadmap, Project Spring and scaling up of extra high voltage cables, the runway stays long, they added.

The brokerage does not see any execution challenges for the company.

Going ahead, Kotak Research expects the growth outperformance to continue with the scale-up of exports, operationalisation of the new EHV cable unit and higher focus on fast-growing segments such as data centres, electric vehicles and defence.

Polycab, according to the brokerage, deserves a higher target multiple than its peers, considering its superior growth profile, return ratios and free cash flow generation.

While it has raised its target multiple to 33 times June 2028 estimates to align with its long-term industry forecasts and broader pecking order within the space, it has maintained a sell rating given expensive valuations.

TALKING FINANCES

An important conversation Indian couples fail to have

SUSEEL KUMAR & R SUDHAKAR

In most Indian households, one partner manages the family's financial life and the other trusts that it is being managed efficiently. This arrangement is not unusual and not born of ill will. The husband quietly maintains the insurance portfolio, rolls over the fixed deposits, monitors the provident fund, and tracks the share certificates by his own understanding and the wife who allows this division of responsibility willingly, magnanimously and completely expresses the trust that marriage in this country is built on.

When he dies, that maganani-mous trust becomes the most expensive thing she ever gave him. The evidence for this statement is no longer anecdotal. It is regulatory data, published by three of India's most consequential financial institutions (FI), and its scale demands that we treat the underlying cause as a matter of serious public concern.

As of February 2026, public sector banks have transferred ₹60,518 crore unclaimed deposits to the Reserve Bank of India's Depositor Education Awareness Fund. These are savings accounts not operated for a decade, fixed deposits not claimed after maturity, money that sat waiting for a claimant who either did not know it existed or could not produce the documents to establish the right to it.

Insurance companies carry a further ₹8,973 crore in unclaimed amounts: Matured policies, survival benefits, death claims that were never filed. Mutual funds account for another ₹3,749 crore. The Investor Education and Protection Fund, which holds unclaimed dividends and shares transferred by companies, carries an estimated ₹5,600 crore. In addition to this, as of February 2026, there were 3.18 million inoperative accounts, with ₹10,181 crore lying unclaimed in Employees' Provident Fund Organisation (EPFO). Of these, nearly 700,000 accounts are older than 20 years, while 180,000 are between 10-20 years old.

The combined figure across these categories runs well past ₹80,000 crore. This is not money lost to fraud or mismanagement. It is money whose rightful owners do not know where to find it, or in many cases, do not know it exists.

The government's own campaign, conducted across 748 districts between October and December 2025 under the name Aapki Pooji, Aapka Adhikar, could give back only ₹5,777 crore for nearly 2.3 million claimants, in spite of serious efforts involving the FIs and district officials. The scale of what remained unreturned after a nationwide drive coordinated by three regulators is itself the most incriminating evidence of how deep the knowledge gap runs.

Financial literacy in India is discussed almost entirely as a problem of product knowledge: Which insurance to buy, which fund to choose, what returns to expect. This framing is incomplete. The data above suggests that a significant portion of India's financial problem is not about which products are purchased, but about whether the people who are entitled to those products are not aware of it.

A life insurance policy that cannot be traced when needed is not a financial asset. It remains as a mere number in insurance company records. A fixed deposit whose maturity the family does not know about is not savings. It is a ledger entry that will eventually be transferred to a government fund.

The claim process for each of these categories rewards the informed claimant and penalises the ignorant one. To file an insurance claim, the beneficiary needs the policy number, the insurer's name, the servicing branch, and the agent's contact. To recover a dormant bank deposit, a legal heir needs the account number, the branch, and specific documentation. To reclaim shares from the Investor Education and Protection Fund, a family must file Form IEPF-5 with the Ministry of Corporate Affairs, attach multiple identity documents, and coordinate with the company's nodal officer.

These processes are not unreasonable when the claimant is alive and informed. They are nearly impossible when the claimant is encountering the asset for the first time, in grief, without the foundational information that only the deceased possessed.

The conversation that is missing from Indian households is not about financial planning. It is about financial disclosure. One partner showing the other precisely what exists: The policy numbers and insurer names, the bank accounts and their branches, the mutual fund folios and the registrar contacts, the provident fund UAN, the share certificates and the demat account details. Not a general reassurance that things are in order, but the specific, documented, transferable knowledge that turns an asset from a private record into shared property.

This conversation must happen at the earliest, in every household in India. It requires no financial adviser, no legal intermediary, no special occasion. It requires only the recognition that the financial life of a marriage belongs to both people in it, and that the partner who holds the information alone has not completed the transaction. He has merely deferred it, at considerable cost, to a stranger at the gate.
